INDIANA UNIVERSITY NORTHWEST
FULFILLING the PROMISE

everyKID program

South Shore Arts and the Northwest Indiana Symphony Orchestra are proud to offer a variety of high-quality arts opportunities for students and educators to cultivate an interest in the arts through creative educational experiences! For instance, you might like to arrange a field trip to attend a performance by nationally-acclaimed puppeteers, a children's concert performed by the Northwest Indiana Symphony Orchestra or visit a South Shore Arts exhibit.

Or we'll come to you! South Shore Arts and the Northwest Indiana Symphony offer numerous Visual Art & Music programs that provide creative outlets for your students. In many cases, we'll be happy to bring a program right into your classroom.

South Shore Arts and the Symphony work closely together to create quality programs that meet Indiana academic standards.

Underwritten in part by the Indiana Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Mary Elizabeth Hannah Education Concerts

A Symphony Concert Just for Kids!

TCHAIKOVSKY'S *SLEEPING BEAUTY A Fairy Tale Favorite

This concert will feature selections from Russian composer Pytor Ilych Tchaikovsky's score for the ballet Sleeping Beauty. From Charles Perrault to the Brothers Grimm to Walt Disney, the story of Sleeping Beauty has entertained audiences for centuries. Join us for a timeless tale full of familiar characters and learn how music can tell a story.

The concert program includes the famous Sleeping Beauty Waltz, which audience members will recognize from Disney's Sleeping Beauty.

Maestro Kirk Muspratt will lead the concert and engage the audience in a visual presentation about the composer, the music, and the story of Sleeping Beauty. They will also learn about the different instruments used in the orchestra. Docents and study guides will be made available to ticketholder classrooms in advance of the concert upon request. This concert aligns with Indiana Academic Standards for Music and Social Studies.

The Crayon Box That Talked

The Crayon Box That Talked was written by Shane DeRolf and illustrated by Michael Letzig. This whimsical story about a girl and a box of crayons instills the message that we are much more colorful and interesting when we work together. The art activity channels the message through an engaging hands-on project. This beloved book and its important message of the creation of harmony through diversity was chosen as the theme for the National Anti-Discrimination Campaign for Children.

“It was a great way to show the students that they are each unique and different.”

—Karly Tabrnacki, Saint John Bosco,
Hammond, IN

Only One You

Only One You, written and illustrated by Linda Kranz, uses colorful images to tell the story of a fish named Adri and his voyage swimming through life’s lessons. The story lends itself to class discussions on social and self-esteem issues. The hands-on project involves each student creating his or her own unique fish using patterns and geometric shapes. The project celebrates each student’s individuality and the result is a colorful school of fish for the classroom!

The Skin You Live In

“This is my favorite project that my students do all year. It is so valuable for them to learn about their uniqueness. I love the self-portraits!”

—Ms. Dodson, Beiriger Elementary School, Griffith, IN

The Skin You Live In was written by Chicago-based author Michael Tyler and illustrated by Hammond native David Lee Csicsko. It uses lively rhymes and quirky illustrations to explore the concept of skin and celebrate our differences and similarities. Designed specifically for 2nd grade classrooms, students will embark on an exploration of community and diversity as they create a self-portrait using multicultural paper and other art materials!

Youth Orchestra

The Northwest Indiana Symphony Youth Orchestra offers a select group of young musicians a dynamic and rewarding experience with a strong emphasis on artistic excellence, personal growth and exceptional performances. The Youth Orchestra is comprised of students from Lake, Porter, LaPorte and Jasper counties in Indiana, and Cook and Will counties in Illinois.

The Orchestra is under the leadership of Philip Bauman, Orchestra Manager of the Northwest Indiana Symphony.

The Youth Orchestra presents three major concerts each year, and a side-by-side concert with the Northwest Indiana Symphony Orchestra.

Orchestra members rehearse Sunday afternoons, 2–4:45pm, August through May, at the Center for Visual and Performing Arts in Munster. String players entering 8th grade and wind, brass and percussion players entering 9th grade through the age of 21 are eligible to audition.

exhibits

Urban Legends is a two-part series of exhibitions that showcase artists whose work is sparking new life in old places. The exhibits will be presented at the Center for Visual and Performing Arts on the Indiana-Illinois state line in Munster, IN, for both Chicago and Northwest Indiana audiences.

Indy Windy: A Love Story

This exhibit will feature artists from Indiana and Chicago who execute large public artworks to create new environments in aging urban and manufacturing areas, while also documenting their experiences and creating new work in their private studios. Ish Muhammad, a self-taught artist from Indiana who maintains a studio at the Zhou B Art Center on Chicago's south side, will curate. The exhibit will present the current pulse of creative activity by a community of Midwest artists, some of whom have been working together for nearly 30 years.
